SREE Announces JREE 2026 Reviewers of the Year: NaLette Brodnax and Zuchao Shen Recognized for Excellence in Peer Review

[June 25, 2026] - The Society for Research on Educational Effectiveness is pleased to announce the recipients of the 2026 Journal of Research on Educational Effectiveness Reviewer of the Year awards to NaLette Brodnax, Georgetown University and Zuchao Shen, University of Georgia.

Peer review is essential to maintaining the highest standards of scholarly research and publication and these two reviewers were selected for their exceptional dedication to this vital work. Each recipient has upheld a high standard of academic rigor and invested significant time and effort in their reviews, setting a benchmark for excellence in the field. Their thoughtful and insightful reviews have significantly advanced understanding and knowledge within educational effectiveness research, and their work exemplifies the scholarly integrity and quality that strengthens the discipline.

In recognition of this accomplishment, the Brodnax and Shen will be honored at the 2026 SREE Conference from September 23 – 26 in Baltimore, MD. Beyond celebrating these outstanding achievements, the conference serves as a cornerstone for the educational research community, bringing colleagues together to connect, collaborate, and share insights. SREE is thrilled to welcome everyone as we celebrate both these individual successes and the collective work of our members.
