

Gender, Gender Bias, and Education in Global Contexts

In this session, panelists will present their recent empirical research on the impact of gender norms and gender-based violence on children's beliefs and their educational decisions in a variety of contexts, including the US, India, Sub-Saharan Africa, and China. Topics covered will include the inter-generational transmission of gendered beliefs on short-term, medium term, and multi-generational educational outcomes and the impact of exposure to the threat of gender-based violence on college-going decisions.
